

BEST Medicine Sponsorship Opportunities

Cleveland State University is pleased to announce an exciting event designed to bridge engineering, science, technology, and medicine (BEST Medicine). BEST Medicine is an event where the most talented and innovative middle and high school students from the region will have the chance to interact with each other and with leaders in medical device research, environmental engineering, and sustainability. The setting will be in Cleveland, a city known for its focus on inventors and innovation and for pioneering breakthroughs.

We have had many inquiries from members of the community as to what options are available for sponsorship of BEST Medicine. To facilitate that effort, we are providing the following summary of opportunities available for interested parties that would like to be involved.

The goals of BEST Medicine are to:

- Motivate students between 6th and 12th grade to get interested in science.
- Stimulate the participation of students in a unique engineering fair.
- Promote exchanges among youth, especially those with interests in becoming physicians, scientists, or biomedical engineers, to begin thinking about pursuing a college education or pursuing a specific course in their college education related to these fields.
- Promote awareness that Cleveland is the premier location for translating health and environmental problems into solutions.
- Develop a mentor program to keep the momentum going following the BEST Medicine event.

Up to 150 students will be invited to participate. This event has become an annual event in which students are judged in various categories related to the health of humans or the planet. In parallel, there are teacher workshops where hands-on activities and innovative lesson plans are shared. We would like to make this a community-based event and are reaching out to our neighbors to participate in this event by becoming a sponsor or presenting a hands-on display during the event to teach the students about developments in STEM fields. The following is a list of opportunities:
